have been unknown or unsuspected by the native medical attendants in the Tung Wah Hospital, is almost bebelief. If these doctors suspected anything of the real nature of the disease, why did they fail report it, when patients were dying around them? It seems also to most remarkable circumstance that Colonial Surgeon did not visit the Tung Wab, as a most likely place to obtain information, especially as it was well known that the plague was raging in Canton, or to see whether any cases might have come here from that quarter. appears to us that the only official to whom any credit can be honestly given in connection with the matter is the Acting Superintendent of the Civil Hospital. The Colonial Surgeon, the Captain Superintendent of Police, and Mr. J. J. Francis were appointed the committee under section 12, subject to the by-laws being approved by the Governor in Council, Sand Mr Francis asked if any one could give information as to the progress of the disease since the previous day. The Colonial Surgeon-Yes, there have been about twelve deaths reported since yesterday imorning and about twenty-four new cases. The President-I have a return of the deaths reported at the Registrar General's office to-day and that shows thirteen deaths noted as from plague.

The Colonial Surgeon said he thought the number of deaths mentioned included four that he reported the previous day. He thought the staff of Sanitary Inspectors in the central district ought to be duplies ed : one man to go on with the work of disinfection, etc., and the other to attend to the Police Court work, because if there was only one man he would have to spend great deal of his time at the Police Court. The President said he had saked M Crook to be present to answer any questions about the drains. Mr Crook had visited Taipingshan, where the disease prevailed. Mr Crook said that in one block

Mr Francis-But in one block five out of thirteen houses attacked have been redrained, so that is no protection. The Colonial Surgeon-Although your own drains are good you may be poisoned by your neighbour's drains. Mr Crook recommended the cleansing of the drains and that disinfectants should be poured down all the openings. Mr Francis seked if Mr Crook was going to take charge under the Board of the disinfecting and cleansing of the drains. The President-Certainly. Mr Francis said the probable proposal would be to establish a gang of men who would have nothing to do but attend to the cleansing and disinfecting of the drains of the houses in the neighbourhood; would Mr Crook be put in charge of them? The President-He will also have something to do with the public drains. Mr Francis-We have nothing to do with that. Mr Cook is our officer. The Public Works Department has charge of the public drains. Can Mr Crook tell as anything about the water supply?

Mr Crook-A report is going in to the Government, to-night probably. Mr Francis-That is not an answer to the question of the Sanitary Board. If you refuse to give the information we will know how to deal with its Mr Crook said he did not think be would be justified in giving the information with-any further remarks. Mr Francis-I have to remark that if a Government officer comes here and is asked a question and declines to give information on such grounds as Mr Crook has given, the somer it is put a stop to the better. It is one of the things that causes great mischief in this colony, every department asserting its independence and declining to give any information except through the Colonial Secretary. The President said he was sure the Governor would desire that the fullest information should be given. Mr Francis-Mr Crook is here and will not give the information. This is how the Board is treated in a crisis like the present. and the Acting Colonial Secretary endorses and supports it. Mr Crook will give us the information he is bound to give as an officer of the Board, but any further information in his possession as an officer of another department he declines to give. The President said he was sure Mr Crook would give all the information be

Mr Humphreys said he could not see any objection to the information being given. The President-Will you kindly tell us, Mr Crook? Mr Crook said he did not remember the exact quantity of water there was in the reservoirs at the end of last week, but it was being used at the rate of a million gellone a day, and if there should be no rainfall before Monday it would be impossible to guarantee that a supply equal to the present could be maintained. The Colonial Surgeon put a question with reference to pumping sea water into one of the tanks for flushing purposes.

Mr Crook said nothing had been decided yel. He had been round to see what drains wanted flushing. In the event of any big drains wanting flushing they would have to fill a tank specially, but at present at Was not necessary.

Mr Francis Can Mr Crook tell us any. thing about the main drains in the western end of the town, how far they are choked open in their lower ends, the last hundred yards or so 2. It was objected to as being too near to occupied houses, and Mr Humphrays also took exception to it on account of its being near the Pokfalam filtering beds and service reservoir, as the water might become contaminated. Ultimately it was decided that the hospital should be erected at the western end of the Kennedytown reclamation and that the ground at the other side of the Police Station should be med as a cometery. This concluded the buistess.

FRAGRANT WATERS' MURMUR That the accidental discovery of the existence of Asiatic Typhus in Hongkong, nearly a month after the disease had broken out in Canton, came upon residents here as an unplessant surprise. That, as the disease appears to be born of filth and inscritary surroundings, the lengthened drought must have had much to do with the origin of this historical postilence, both in Canton and in Horgkong

That the action of the authorities here, after the unpleasant discovery was made, has been vigorous and thorough snough, and hope will prove effective not only in orushing out the disease but in purifying the Colony generally. That Dr Lowson, who has shown up in a most oreditable manner in this emergency, has now an opportunity offered to very few members of his profession, of diagnosing a type of disease which fortunately is not often met with. That although Dr Ayres states the Chinese know the disease well, the knowledge possessed by the Chinese doctors of the Tong Wah Hospital did not come very readily to the front. That the conspiracy of silence and apathy which lasted for about a fortnight is not a thing to be very proud of, unless, indeed, it was carried on in order to prevent anything in the shape of a scare. That what is now known is, I hear, not of a nature to produce any great degree of

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATIONS.

Rangoon Gazette writes :--With the Edvent of spring bonnets, or hats, comes an unusual activity among the Women's Associations which grow more numerous and powerful. A very important question before the Sorosis was the proper sphere for woman's active employment outside the domain of her own home ought also not to devote all of her energy to her family? Where she interferes with the labour of man, is not her essistance rather a curse than a blessing? It needs no argument to prove that for the past twenty years, notwithstanding the tremendoug opposition, and I may say persecution notwithstanding the bitter prejudices of mouldy centuries, she has steadily and bravely fought her way to the front, till to-day you find her in every portion of the civilized globe standing alongside of man in all the learned professions, and in the severest trials and competitions bearing off the blue ribbon and the gold medal against odds. Yale after years of opposition lets down its rusty bars. Harvard throws wide her gates and bids her welcome. Columbia becomes her champion, and testifies its love and reverence to her first female graduate by a splendid memorial window in its beautiful chapel, which will carry the name of the distinguished graduate to future generations. The arguments pro and con as to woman's proper sphere in the labour field were very brilliant and incisive, the majority believing that it was woman's duty and privilege to occupy all the domain she could, and if man was elbowed out of the way, there was no help for it. It was only a verification of the Drawinian theory of the survivial of the fittest.

. One of the speakers, a married woman with a fine family of boys and girls, maintained that wifehood and motherhood is and ought to be the principal end and sim of woman's life, and to these two absorbing questions all others should be held subordinate. To this proposition there was a very emphatic and decided, no, no, no; for a consideble majority of the Scrosis have not yet put their heads in the matrimoniai hoose. In a private conversation, one of the most talented sisters of that distinguished company was heard to say, 'I have no husband and no children, and I don't know that I care about having them.' There are The Turko-Scythian Tribes. hundreds of thousands of women whose proper sphere is motherhood and wifehood in whose breasts the maternal feeling is stronger than any other. They want a home and some one to provide for it; they want children about them all the time, and the anxiety and trouble of taking care of them hardly weighs a feather in the scale in comparison with having some one to provide for their every day wants.

Then there is another class to which this kind of matrimonial bondage is intolerable, and who would go through any amount of suffering and self-denial rather than endure it. 'To them the highest type of happiness is independence; they don't want any one to provide for them: they would prefer to provide for themselves; they are satisfied to fight the battle of life alone, and it is to the determined stand mad women of 4th century this class which in this min is revolutionizing the work

There is one peculiar feature about the Scrosis, that is no matter how ably any of its members advocate the excellence of motherhood and wishood, when the question comes up of admitting men to the enperlative advantages that the Seresis Club affords, from the b hest to the lowest, they instantly jump i the proposition with both feet and crush it out of

At the conclusion of one of the addresses which strongly advocated the cause of the weaker sex (men), a prim looking lady of about-well, no matter about her age, who looked ag if she could tackle a cyclone and lay it on its back, shook her bead very scornfully, and closing her lips so tight that there was hardly a sign of a mouth left, after a short pause blurted out, 'No men in mine, I thank you,' and that settled

The Professional Women's League had a very lively meeting this week, and as far as men are concerned it is very much like the Sorosis. Both associations ar composed exclusively of women, and me thy of women who are abundantly able to take care of themselves. The Sorosis is exclusive, and is inclined to be dictatorial and aristocratic The Professional Women's League is the embodiment of ideal democracy; with the Professional Women's League dollars don't count, except so far as they serve the purposes of charity, in the dispensing of which these worthy workers have expended many thousands of dollars, and expect to spend many thousands more. And when they wanted money they did not beg it; they went to work and earned it by hard and honest work, and this fact alone accounts for their phenomenal success. They had, as I said before, a very lively meeting this week, at which Miss Maud Banks read a paper on the rights of women. Miss Banks the daughter of General N. commanded at New Orleans who was G mor of Massachusetts and Speaker of the House of Representatives; she will be remembered as the Orlando in the League's performance of Shakespeare's 'As you Like It,' in which she made a merited success. Her address was received with immense applause, and in the business meeting which ensued Mrs Edwin Knowles, the treasurer, moved to admit men to the honorary privileges of the Association, believing that their co-operation would be of great advantage, but the idea met with instant opposition, and the most conservative would only admit that the time had not yet come for so radical s

THEY SPORT WITH HUMAN LIFE, Ill give you the plain facts in the case, and you, shall help me to judge whether there was a It, seems that some time in 1889 in the winter, no doubt-Mr. Strong, of Leicester, was and truly a strong grip it has when it once takes a hold. Wall, I am glad to say he was able to fight out the battle and get the best of it. But the best wesn't anything to brag of. The influenza hadn't exactly besten Mr. Strong 'out it left him in very bad condition. And wire is where you and I properly rick up the thread of

His meals didn't tempt him; the most savoury of dishes had no charms for our triand. He had iont his appetite, and in the long run a man had petter loss his money. He forced down something of course, but it gave him such a pain in the chest that he wished he hadn't swallowed a mouthful. Then, paturally, he got so week and nervous he couldn't sleep o' nights. This, as everybody knows, is the straight road to the graveyard, through the madhouse. Lots of people are making that trip all the time. We ment cat and we must alcob. Liwe don't we are patient says on that point : "This doctor gave. me all kinds of strengthening medicines, none of them did me any good, and I continued to suffer for month after month." Just what we might have expected. Mr.

Strong farther resys: In October, 1890, my friend, Mr. James Webster, of 28, New Walk, Leicenster, advised up to try a medicine called Mother Beigel's Curative Byrap, and I followed his advice. The first bottle gave me great relief. JOHN C. THOMBON,

What astonished me was that the Syrup cured me so quickly, and I shell never cease thanking Mr. Webster for making it known to me, You are at liberty to publish my case for the benefit others. Yours truly, (Signed) W. STRONG, 41, East Street, Leicester, December 80th, 1891." Now, was there a mistake in this matter, and If no, what was it? Yes, there was a common mistalo made. It is an old and seemingly hope

"The doctor," says, Mr. Strong, " gave me al kinds of strengthening medicinet. Open wide your cars and remember what I'm going to tell you now ; remember it for the hour d your own helplessness and pain: There is no such thing as strengthening medicine, neither in the earth nor in the waters which are under the earth. This is the truth; all the high-class doctors know it: As for the others well, there the less said about them the better."

Mr. Strong took "strengthening medicines, and what happened to him? Why, he "con-tinued to suffer month after month." Did you ever see a horse made stronger and fatter by spurs and lash-whips? leaving off the oats and hay ? I think you have not. And that is what strengthening modicines " do, and all they do. lo-called tonics are like making a sick man walk her and fast by kicking him at every other step. Nothing under the sun but digested food imparts strength; no drug ever does.

And herein is the perpetual success and victory of Mother Seigel's Syrup; it cleaness the system of disease poison and leaves Nature sweet and free. The stomach then cries, "Feed me," and so power and health come back like the green grass after a shower. Do you see? Mother Seigel proclaims "I destroy disease! Nature responds, "Only do that, and I can take
